

ONLY SCHOOL OF KIND IN WEST

Dept. of Physical Education at University Is Proving to Be Popular.

ENROLLMENT NEARLY 100

DR. WM. G. ANDERSON MAKES STATEMENT ABOUT IT.

The school of physical education of the university, which opened for its second year last week, has an enrollment of nearly 100, among which are students from all parts of the United States. The school of physical education is the only thing of its kind in the west, and outside of the Crautauqua, in New York, and one or two other schools in the far east, it is the only thing of its kind in the country. The school is designed to teach physical education in all its branches and to train coaches and athletic instructors, and for this purpose some of the most noted physical education experts in the east, such as Dr. Jacob Bolin of New York, Dr. William Gilbert Anderson of Yale, H. S. Anderson of Yale and a number of others have been engaged to work along with Professor Maud May Babcock and Coach Joe Maddock of the university and other local talent.

Dr. William Gilbert Anderson, director of the physical education, a recognized authority of physical culture, has made the following statement regarding the school:

"The remarkable increase in enrollment in the school this year is a compliment to those who were in charge of the work last year. The university now ranks with the large summer schools elsewhere in the United States, and at present has an enrollment of 750, with the indication that the 800 mark will be reached before July 1.

School Is a Success.

"The school of physical education is one of the most successful departments of the summer school, and it has nearly 100 students. Professor Maud May Babcock has seen that the efficiency of the teacher and student is measured by the physical capacity, and to this end she has, with the sympathetic co-operation of the faculty, organized this department of physical education. The school now has on its faculty men of national reputation, and the school stands shoulder to shoulder with any other similar schools in America.

"The work of last year was a splendid success, and from the present prospects that of this year will be even better. Dr. Bolin, the leading authority on Swedish gymnastics, has been engaged this year to give courses in theory and practice in the Long system, and will remain here three weeks. H. S. Anderson, instructor in gymnastics at Yale, has also been secured. He has a wide knowledge of his subject and is well known throughout the east as a gymnastic instructor. He will take charge of the men's classes and give his personal attention to the boys and girls' clubs, a new feature of the work. Of last year's faculty we still have Miss Babcock, Miss Johnson, Mr. Maddock and Mrs. Ross, who will still have charge of their respective departments.

"We will also have the advantage of new equipment this year and several improvements in the gymnasium. The work has progressed exceptionally well so far; the classes are well organized and we were able to get down to hard work the first few days. On the whole, I think we will have an excellent season, which will surpass last year's work."

Laborer Claims to Have Been Robbed
by Two Men at American House of $9.

While asleep in his room at the American house, N. Christensen, a laborer employed by the Utah Construction company, claims to have been robbed of $9 and a liver watch by two men, one of whom was armed with a revolver when he awoke. He swore to a complaint in police court charging the crime to John Segel and John Williams. The latter is a Swede and has not been arrested. Segel is held by the police. Christensen said the robbery occurred early yesterday morning.

MONEY FOR BOUNTIES.

Special State Fund Sufficient for All the Needs.

Jesse D. Jewkes, state auditor, and his deputies, are engaged upon old bounty certificates, of which there are many on hand. Some of these have been approved by the state board of examiners, but there are many which have not yet been passed upon. The state auditor will, in a few days, begin to draw warrants for these and get them out of the way. With the appropriation of $20,000, made by the last legislature, the state will be able to keep these bounties paid up as soon as the pending ones are out of the way. Hitherto the appropriation have been exhausted early in the year. With the creation of a special fund for the purpose there is now a basis upon which to work.

HOW TO RESTORE LAND TO U. S. ESTATE

Utah County Residents to Address Petition to State Delegates in Washington.

IT LIES ON UTAH LAKE

WAS WITHDRAWN IN 1895 FOR RESERVOIR PURPOSES.

Headed by James Clove of Provo and A. J. Evans of Lehi, the residents of Utah county in that section bordering on Utah lake are preparing a petition to be forwarded to Utah's delegation at Washington, asking that land on the lake front, which was set aside from entry in 1895, be restored to public entry, as the purpose for which it was withdrawn can never be realized, and that it is valuable for other purposes.

In the year 1895 a large area of land, all of which had a shore line on Utah lake, was set aside by the department of the interior to be used by the government reclamation service. It was the plan at that time to establish a large reservoir on this ground for the purpose of irrigating farming land lying between Provo and Salt Lake City. Preliminary surveys were made for the reservoir, but other than this no work has been done, and during the last thirteen years many acres of land has been lying idle and is of no value to anyone under the present conditions.

The land in question lies in most part off the western shore of the lake and is in a most desirable location for summer homes. According to Mr. Clove, it would be impossible to use this land as a reservoir site, as it is much higher than the ground on the east, and to run water onto the land on the west would put the city of Provo under water.

The west shore of Utah lake, for a distance of many miles, is a level, sandy beach and level country behind. There are no swamps on this portion of the lake, and property around that which is being withheld for entry is now booming. Several Salt Lake men have purchased property in the near vicinity with the intention of erecting summer homes. The property is within an hour's run from Salt Lake City, and the ideal fishing places of the lake are in close proximity.

Mr. Evans and Mr. Clove were in the city yesterday and spent several hours at the United States land office securing data on the land. A petition will be made up from the citizens of Utah county and forwarded to Washington, asking that the land be released and thrown open for entry again.

COMMENCEMENT PROGRAM CONSIDERED ESSENTIAL

Miss Edith Smith, 15 years old, daughter of President Joseph F. Smith, was contemplating enrolling in the Vacation school, in order that she might enter the high school next September. She had to be convinced that the diplomas issued by the association would be accepted at the high school, and that it would be as good as planned by the Y. M. C. A. she should have covered the work of the eighth grade in two weeks, but there was one other objection.

"What kind of graduation exercises do you have?" she asked. "Oh," she exclaimed, "when I was informed that none had been provided in the course. 'Papa says I may attend, but if you do not have a commencement, I should rather graduate next winter.'"

Educational Director J. Gustav White, four public school principals and five women eighth grade teachers composing the faculty of the Vacation school, who planned the course, who omitted the graduation exercises, and who should have known better, are now busily engaged in preparing an elaborate commencement program and entertainment. The school provides for pretty white dresses, flowers, speeches by famous men, music and a general good time.

The Vacation school of the Y. M. C. A. commences at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. With the exception of the details of the commencement exercises all the preparations have been completed. The association has gone to considerable expense in securing the program, and a complete separation of the classes, and an abundance of light.

FAREWELL CONCERT OF MR. AND MRS. BRINES

Mr. and Mrs. J. Brines will appear in concert next Friday evening at the First Congregational church. Although they will not secure help for the east until the late summer this will be the last opportunity that Salt Lake will have of hearing these talented young people. Mr. Brines has been one of the foremost workers for the higher standard of excellence in music, and his stay has done much in a quiet way that will make his influence felt for some time in Salt Lake.

His singing ranks among the foremost pianists and her work as an accompanist is exceptional. The program for the evening will be of the highest order, containing heavier numbers, such as the aria from the great opera of Richard Wagner, "Lohengrin," by Felix, for which Mr. Brines coached with the composer. The lighter numbers will include a new song by Harriett Ware, the old favorite "Loch Lomond," which Mr. Brines sings so well.

The entire program is as follows:

1. Summer time—Song cycle, (Landon-Ronald).
- (a) Daybreak.
- (b) Morning.
- (c) Evening.
- (d) Night.
2. Aria from Eugene Onegin (Tchakow-ski).
3. Boat Song (Ware).
- Ecstasy (Ware).
- My Jean (Ware).
- Loch Lomond (Old Scotch Song).
- Hi, Lo, Feller (Ware).
- The Philanderer (Ware).
- Short Cut to the Roses (Ware).
4. Piano Solo (Mrs. Brines).
5. Song cycle—Elliland (Von Feltz).

PROPERTY ESCAPES TAXATION THROUGH PECULIAR HISTORY

Fifth East Hotel, Built as a Home for Plural Wives and Never Occupied as Such, Has Paid No Taxes for Ten Years—May Be Penalized.

Salt Lake county has not been getting what it is entitled to in the way of taxes. That much property in this county has escaped assessment for one reason or another is notorious; usually it has been the lax way in which the office of the assessor has been administered.

Recently there has come to light the fact that, in addition to the ordinary method of beating the tax collector to it, at least one property owner of this city has taken advantage of a situation that is unique, to say the least.

Home for Plural Wives.

When the manifesto of the Mormon church was issued, declaring in substance that there should be no more plural marriages and the consequent designation by men who had plural wives of one to be known as the legal wife the question came forward:

"And what is to become of the women who have entered the state of plural wives in good faith and in accordance with their religious beliefs? Manifestly they cannot all be selected as the legal wives."

Then the government authorities conceived the idea of providing a refuge for the plural wives, or as many of them who desired to take advantage of the opportunity. With this object in view, the government erected a handsome hotel, building at 145 South Fifth East street, known as the Fifth East hotel. This building was the government's contribution toward the cause; the people of Utah—then the commission form of government was in force—were to provide for its maintenance.

So far as it is recalled no plural wife ever lived in the hotel, and the object for which the hotel was built was defeated.

Ten years ago, more or less, the property of the hotel was sold to C. B. Titcomb, the present owner and proprietor. Although enjoying possession of the property, and receiving the benefit of the protection the law afforded, Mr. Titcomb never paid taxes. When he was asked about the matter of taxation, he referred the question to the assessor, which indicated, and do still indicate, that the United States government owns the property, and therefore it could not be assessed against him. Moreover, government property cannot be assessed for taxes, and the county did not get any taxes on the Fifth East hotel.

The Law in the Case.

A day or two ago members of the state board of equalization called on the attorney general in an informal way and asked his opinion as to whether or not the property could be assessed. George C. Buckle, the assistant attorney general, gave a verbal opinion to the effect that it could be, that taxes could be collected, and that if Mr. Titcomb wanted to recover the amount of his taxes his recourse was an action at law. The state board, of course, has nothing to do with the assessing of property, but the assessor was advised of the result of the inquiry.

May Collect Back Taxes.

Mr. Buckle is furthermore of the opinion that taxes in arrears may be collected, and that, too, at double the value of the property. Here is what the law says about attempts to conceal property for the purpose of evading taxation:

"Any property wilfully concealed, removed, transferred or misrepresented by the owner, for the purpose of evading taxation, upon discovery must be assessed at double its value, and the assessment so made must not be reduced by the board of county commissioners."

Is Now Assessed.

This year the new county assessor, A. S. Gabbott, in accordance with the views of the attorney general outlined herein, has assessed the property. The assessor fixed the value at approximately $1,000.

The hotel property was assessed about four years ago, but owing to the fact that the record showed government ownership, the taxes were not paid. The property was ordered sold, but as the law of Utah operates with exceedingly slow motion, it is only now being advertised.

It is said that there may be one or two other pieces of property which have escaped taxation under similar circumstances.

was here on a tour of inspection, and most of his time was spent at Fort Douglas, looking over the country, considering the improvements already under way there. Colonel Pope has in prospect all of the property in the government, with the exception of Fort Logan, which he will visit soon.

ATTORNEY J. M. HAMILTON left for Blaine county, Idaho, last evening in the interest of eastern capitalists, to pass upon the claims of a group of placer and quartz claims recently discovered near the head of the South Boise river. He is expected to be absent about ten days.

IN HONOR of the second anniversary of the organization of the Superior Bakery company, 230 employees and friends of the company enjoyed a social dancing party in the new building at the bakery on Denver street last evening.

J. W. EDMUNDS, who recently underwent an operation at the Holy Cross hospital, is reported as doing favorably.

THE SACRED CONCERT at Lagoon today will include a number of classic, as well as popular airs of the day. In the evening, the popular "The Great Escape" will be given, and the popular tenor, will render a vocal program in the cafe, consisting of up-to-date ballads and songs.

SIDNEY W. HOOPER, one of the prominent young men of the Oregon Short Line, who has been in the L. D. S. hospital for some time, left yesterday morning for his home in New York to recuperate after a series of operations. He will return later in the summer.

THE PICNIC of the religious school of Congregation B'nai Israel will be held on Monday, June 28, at Liberty park, at 2 o'clock.

THE STATE BOARD OF INSANITY met yesterday in the office of Governor William Spry to consider the carrying out of the intentions of the state legislature for the care of the feeble-minded and insane. It was decided to utilize the old men's cottage for the housing of feeble-minded youths at the present and other quarters will be found for the girls. The board will hold another meeting in a few days to further take up the question of the disposal of the board for this purpose an appropriation of $20,000 made by the recent legislature.

THE CURRENT number of the Journal of Education, published at Boston, Mass., has a lengthy article on the valuable work of A. C. Nelson, state superintendent of education in Utah, in assisting to secure helpful legislation and commending his work in Utah to superintendents in other states.

NEGRO WINS IN COURT.

Refuses to Pay Excessive Price in Local Restaurant.

Restaurants may increase their prices to negro patrons as a means of discouraging that class of trade if they wish, according to a decision rendered through a court if the patron refuses to pay in excess of the amount stipulated on the menu.

This was brought out in the case before Judge Bowman of the Occidental cafe against John Clifford, a negro. Clifford ate peas and cream, which cost 10 cents, according to the bill of fare. The waiter charged him $1. He declined to pay and was sent to the street. After hearing the evidence Judge Bowman said that the fact of the restaurant not wishing to cater to the negro was no reason for an advance in prices to them and dismissed Clifford.

Green at that time caused the arrest of Mrs. Kunkel, but at the trial was himself shown to have been the aggressor. After her victory in the police court Mrs. Kunkel brought the whole row into the district court, where one of the four judges will have the pleasure of hearing details of the scrap.

ERRONEOUS CLAUSE IN MINING REGULATIONS

Receivers and registers of the United States land office were notified by circular letter yesterday by Fred Bennett, commissioner of the general land office, that the last clause in paragraph 4 of the mining regulations, approved March 23, 1909, was erroneous in construction and the following explanation is given:

"The vein or lode must be fully described, the description to include a statement as to the kind and character of the mineral, the extent thereof, whether or not it has been located, and what amount and value, and such other facts as will support the applicant's claim to a valuable mineral deposit."

It seems that the expression, "the extent thereof," is being construed as meaning that the applicant must affirmatively show by proof of exploration that the vein exists in fact throughout the whole length of the claim.

This construction of the paragraph is declared to be incorrect. It was intended to require the claimant to show the existence of a vein in such workings as he relied on to establish his claim. By the extent of the vein was meant its size and quality as disclosed. That being done, the presumption exists that the vein exists in fact throughout the whole length of the claim as located.

The purpose of that part of paragraph 4 quoted was to enable the land department to know, so far as applicant can reasonably show, the definite facts upon which he relies to establish his claim, so as to determine whether a valuable mineral deposit exists in the land claimed.

SHEETS SINGLES OUT POKER GAME FOR RAID

While numerous similar games are running at full blast throughout the city, Chief Sheets last night selected the popular poker game at 234 Main street as the object of a raid. The game was conducted as a club known as the National Protective Legion, said to have been organized under a state charter. Howard Thurston, who claims to be a newspaper man, is known as president. He, with about a dozen members, alleged to have been playing at the time, was taken in the raid. All the prisoners gave fictitious names and secured bonds for their release shortly after 1 o'clock this morning. The raid was made by Chief Sheets and Detectives Golding and Wilson.

ONE BOY BRINGS 118 DOZEN SPARROWS' EGGS

One small boy showed up at the office of County Auditor Frank Heginbotham yesterday with 118 dozen sparrow eggs and collected for these, after the auditor's keen sense of smell had satisfied him that they did not come from David county. A number of other youths collected bounties for smaller amounts Saturday afternoon between 2 and 5 o'clock. The eggs were taken from the usual existing during these hours in the offices of the sheriff and auditor. Over $100 was paid out every Saturday to the boys in these bounties.

IMMIGRATION INSPECTOR NOW HAS CASE IN HAND

Francisca Rossi Shows Indication of Unbalanced Mind—Claims to Be Deserter From Italian Army.

After telling the police numerous strange stories and showing every indication of an unbalanced mind, it is probable that Francisca Rossi will be deported by the immigration inspector in charge of local cases.

Rossi was held by the police for examination, after relating the latest of his alleged thrilling exploits. He tried to interest Lieut. Shannon with the fanciful tale of a $500 robbery, which amount of money he said was taken from his shoes, after being knocked down by highwaymen.

Failing to awaken any particular interest with this story he returned later with another.

"I'm a deserter from the Italian army," he declared, "and I demand that the immigration authorities send me back."

This had the effect of bringing him to the attention of Inspector Hart. The latter questioned Rossi at length when he came to headquarters. Rossi declared he had come to this country in 1903, and that he settled first at Buffalo, N. Y.

"If it is proved that he did land in America that year it is questionable whether he is a deserter," said the immigration inspector.

DISTRICT COURT NOTES.

Judge C. W. Morse yesterday dismissed without prejudice on plaintiff's motion, the suit brought by Lydia G. James against Harrison Ross, a divorce case, a conveyance made by David James of property near the corner of Fifth North and Third West.

Hearing upon the petition of the Agency company for the appointment of a receiver for the Continental Mining & Smelter company was yesterday continued until Monday. The Agency company is charging that a transfer of the holdings of the Continental company were made to escape payment of debts.

John Livingstone is sued for divorce by his wife, Edith, on the ground of non-support. She says that though Livingstone claims to be a salaried man, he has been compelled to apply to friends and work for her living. She asks the custody of their two girls aged 13 and 15 years, $10 a month for the girls' maintenance, $20 a month temporary alimony, later to be made permanent. They were married at Salt Lake Nov. 13, 1888.

Another poor provider was Thomas F. Hopkins, whom his wife, Martha, says has not furnished proper support for seven years. She is suing for a divorce and the custody of three children, 15, 12 and 8 years old, but does not ask for alimony.

ACTRESS BRINGS SUIT.

Says Empire Theatre Failed to Keep a Contract.

Margaret Severance, an actress, who figured on the bills as Margaret Severance & Company, is suing C. A. Hartman in the city court because she says the theatre failed to keep a contract made through her agent, Bert Levey. She was engaged with her troupe to appear at the Empire theatre in Salt Lake for the week ending May 20. The actress was not allowed to open its act. She asks for $100 damages. She further charges that she has been paid $72.50 for a week at Sylvan park, Ogden, and asks for the balance of $27.50.

MAY RESIST PAYMENT FOR DEFECTIVE WALKS

Property owners who live within the confines of sidewalk extension 18, which is now being completed by James Kennedy, are organizing to fight payment for some of the sidewalk patches they insist are defective. They have raised several hundred dollars for legal purposes and are now considering the form which their action will take. Some of the contractors have been replaced by the contractor and he will be given a few days to announce his reasons regarding the other parts. Mike O'Connor, superintendent for Kennedy, has given his word that he will make the city to accept the work he will make good any defects.

CLAIMS TRANSFER IS TO AVOID JUDGMENT

Asserting that James Hughes and his wife, Honora Hughes, are seeking to evade a judgment, C. F. Johnson has brought suit against them to have cancelled a deed transferring all the property of Hughes to his wife. Johnson was accidentally shot by Hughes at Sugar City, Idaho, on Dec. 18, 1906, where the former was station agent for the Oregon Short Line. The suit was brought for $1,500, and judgment confessed in the Federal county courts for $1,200, but never paid. Johnson then sued on the judgment in the Third district court here, where he was given judgment for $1,327.75.

CEMENT WORKERS TO PERFECT ORGANIZATION

The recently formed Cement Workers' union will perfect its organization this afternoon at a meeting in Federation of Labor hall. The hour is 3:30 o'clock.

A. H. Ness, president of the federation, will preside at the ceremonies. The number of the new union will be local No. 12. Federation of Cement Workers of America. It will be the first effective organization of the kind in the state.

At several meetings held recently the first steps toward the organization of cement workers were taken. Officers were selected as follows: President, N. Thurston; secretary, E. C. Ruendall; sergeant at arms, J. T. Plant; treasurer, W. B. Hales.

The new charter, handsomely embossed, arrived yesterday and will be in evidence this afternoon. There are about 150 cement workers in Salt Lake and the hope of the organizers is to enlist quite all of these in membership.

GOVERNOR ENTERTAINS U. S. ARMY OFFICERS

Military spirit is being injected into the police department. The national guard of the state has been called upon to teach members of the patrol how to use their weapons. The various patrolmen are being given lessons in the art of handling their revolvers, and they were trying to emulate the guardsmen, carrying out instructions that will be given them each Saturday night.
